Unreal Engine 4 The Unreal Engine 4 is a cross-platform, multi-platform, and cross-computing game engine built on a proprietary, object-oriented, modular, and integrated design paradigm to create games, interactive experiences and other applications and to improve game development tools. Unreal Engine 4 supports a wide variety of development platforms and operating systems such as Windows, Linux, OS X, iOS, Android, as well as the PlayStation 4, PlayStation 3, PlayStation Portable, and Xbox One. It also allows the rapid development and deployment of augmented reality games for Microsoft HoloLens and Magic Leap. Some games made with Unreal Engine 4 were released in the summer of 2016 by Australian developer and publisher Blackbird Interactive and included for free. The first title "Portalarium: The Awakening" was released on August 16. The two remaining titles "Griffin's Wake" and "Stormbound" was released on August 30. In the 2018 Game Developers Conference, Epic announced a $100 million fund that will enable developers to port their games over to Mac OS, Linux, and other platforms. Collaborations Interlude Films Interlude Films is a film production company that was founded in 1999. The company was formed as an outlet for Michael Biehn's passion for video games. Biehn had been a partner in marketing firm Interlude, and, upon its dissolution, the company's founders decided to continue work on video games. The company has a focus on original video games and other "unusual" titles, including titles such as the popular Frictional Games series, the adventure game Solitude, the shooter game B.A.N.A.H.!, and the procedural non-linear adventure game Awkward. Interlude Films' work covers various video game platforms, including PC, iOS, and Android. Their work has been praised for its attention to "the emotional appeal of great games", and their work has been described as "exceptional" and "consistently impressive" by media outlets. Their work has received praise from numerous outlets, including Electronic Gaming Monthly, GameSpot, Destructoid, GameSpy, IGN, The Daily Telegraph, and the Huffington Post. Interlude's videos have received recognition in the gaming industry, including 82157476af
